POOLE JOINS O'DONNELL.

A MAN BY THE NAME OF MR. JONES.

Officials at Richmond, Va., and the Crowd Dispersed.

DUBLIN, Dec. 18.--Joseph Poole was hanged for the murder of John Kennedy, within the walls of Richmond prison, at 8:05 this morning. Last night the prison guards were doubled and an adequate force was kept in reserve in case of emergency.

Before 6 a. m. a few knots of men and women gathered outside the wall. Later on their numbers increased, until quite a crowd had assembled, the women being largely in the majority. Groups gathered around some who denounced the murdered man, and others the one who was about to die. The atmosphere was frequently loud and noisy. A man who had been confined in the prison, and the names of O'Donnell, Smith, O'Brien, and Stephens were heard from many lips; neither were Dwyer, Gray, Tim Healey, and Michael Davis forgotten. Poole slept at intervals last night, and arose about six when he had a light breakfast. He then joined himself with his devotion, reading from the "Key of Heaven" and "Lives of the Saints," and praying whenever he laid the book aside. After a short time he appeared refreshed and in fairly good spirits.

He then proceeded, with two attendant warders, to the chapel, which is situated about a quarter of a mile from the prison, and which had been just fitted.

At the chapel he was met by Father Donaghy, and the officiating priest. The last sacrament was here administered to the condemned man. A few minutes later a signal was given by the chief warden, and Father Donaghy led the doomed felon to the gallows. A few minutes later the executioner, an amateur executioner from Belfast, fixed the straps, pinning his elbows. The prisoner was then formed. Father Donaghy

JERSEY CITY'S GREAT SCANDAL.

Testimony Elongated in the Garden Street

Room.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 18.--The room of the Court of General Sessions was crowded Monday by men and women because of the announcement that the trial would be begun of Captain George J. Gordon, who was recently arrested here for having abducted from Astoria, Addie Breslin, the adopted daughter of Patrick Breslin, a wealthy resident of Long Island.

A jury was selected in a very short time. The District Attorney then briefly opened the case, stating that the defendant had been indicted for abduction with intent to seduce and deflower, and that he was also charged with having actually deflowered the complainant. Several witnesses were examined as to Addie's age, all of whom put it at fourteen years. Addie Breslin was then called. Counselor Daly objected to the competency of Addie as a witness, on the ground that, under the laws of the State of New York, she was the wife of the defendant. The girl was then sworn as to her competency. She admitted that she signed to the marriage contract was hers, also that three letters produced in which she addressed Gordon as "My Precious Husband" and signed herself,

"Your Affectionate Wife," "Your Devoted Wife," and "Your Repentant Wife" were in her hand-writing; but said she was on her way to school when Gordon gave her the contract to sign, and she signed it at school. Gordon told her it was only for fun. She testified that no ceremony had ever been performed between them. The letters shown, he told her to write and to sign her name as his wife.

She admitted that she promised Gordon she would marry him in the Spring, and that she had written to him to come to Jersey City, and that she had written to

AN EXPLODED BOILER.

SETS IN ITS TERRIBLY DEADLY WORK.

Blown Clear Across a Railroad Track-- Terrible Injuries and Loss of Property--List of the Wounded.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 18.--At the Empire

Works of D. P. Reighard & Co. a terrible boiler explosion took place shortly before noon, by which two men were frightfully mangled and four others less seriously hurt. The large boiler was blown across the railroad track a distance nearly one hundred feet, scattering debris, hot water and debris in all direction. The following is a list of the victims: James Fisher, badly cut and bruised by flying fragments, recovery hoped; Samuel Henderson, frightfully burned face and body by escaping steam; Charles H. Smith, a large quantity of his West Roof will be blind for life, his eye being literally blown from his head, and otherwise seriously injured. His son, aged fifteen, is also badly injured, and two others are painfully bruised, but not seriously. The cause of the explosion was low water in the boilers.

Nineteenth Century Civilization.

New York, Dec. 18.--About 2 o'clock this morning 800 persons gathered in Mc-Quaid Hall, Ball Court, Madison street, to witness a prize fight between John Goss and Christian Geibel. The seconds for Goss were James H. McElroy and "Spider" Mitchell. Geibel's seconds were McQuaid's bartender and John Ward. Ben Connell, better known as Snyder, of the old Astor base ball club, was referee. The battle was fought with gloves, under the Marquis of Queensbury rules. Six rattling rounds were fought. Geibel was getting worried, referee refused to call draw, and Geibel seems to have been badly hurt. The referee gave the fight to Goss. Both men were badly battered.

A BAD OUTLOOK.

Gloomy Prospect of the Coal Trade for the Winter.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18.--The river coal trade, according to leading operators, has not been in such a bad shape for years.

Beginning at New Orleans the same story is told up the Mississippi and the Ohio.

The result of this state of affairs is found in the closing within the last few days of nearly all the largest works of the Monocabell River. Walton's three works are shut down, throwing over 700 miners out of employment. Brown's are closed except their Hallsbury works. O'Neil's Woods, Fairweather and others are closed.

Gamble and Fisher's men are on a strike.

A strike is probable in the Third Pool against the acceptance in some pits of reduced wages. The situation among the railroad mines is not much better than on the river, and altogether, the outlook is a notably gloomy one for the coal men in all branches of the trade.

The Attorney General Indignantly Denies.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 18.--Attorney General Brewster characterized the published statements of Mr. John A. Walsh, in which the latter discredits the sincerity of the Government's efforts to prosecute ex-Senator Kellogg as a "righteous and distinguished instance." The Government, Mr.

Brewster says, has made an honest and sincere effort to find Walsh and bring him to the witness stand. The Court knows this and so does Mr. Walsh, who has fled and concealed himself. Mr. Merrick, and other counsel in the case, are very reticent about Walsh, only saying that the case has gone over till March next, and that it will be tried then if Mr. Walsh is here.
